

Dalia Čiočytė (editor), Asta Gustaitienė, Dalia Jakaitė, Marijus Šidlauskas

Christianity and Contemporary Lithuanian Literature

Collective monograph

Reviewers:

prof., habil. dr. Viktorija Daujotytė-Pakerienė bishop, doc., dr. Jonas Ivanauskas

dr. Gediminas Mikelaitis

This research was funded by a grant (Nr. LIP-086/2016)

from the Research Council of Lithuania

CONTENTS

I. Dalia Čiočytė. Christianity and contemporary Lithuanian literature: Introduction

II. Continuation of the traditional dialogue: Contemporary Christian Lithuanian literature

1. Dalia Čiočytė. Contemporary Christian Lithuanian prose and essay

The modernness of the Christian prose and essay: what this means?

The reflection of Christianity's way to Lithuania (Saulius Šaltenis, Basas ir laimingas, 2016)

Decalogue as the way of spiritual purification (Petras Dirgėla)

„Hope means faith“ (Jonas Mikelinskas, Dinozauro ausyje, 2009)

God's paradoxical and scandalous ways (Julius Sasnauskas, Pagaunama ir nepagaunama, 2013)

The miracle in illness (Jurga Ivanauskaitė, Viršvalandžiai, 2007)

„Spirit can't vanish without signs“ (Romualdas Granauskas, Kai reikės nebebūti: mano draugo gyvenimas ir mirtis, 2012)

I believe, however... and however I believe (Henrikas Algis Čigriejus, Savi ir pažįstami, 2016)

2. Dalia Jakaitė. Contemporary Christian Lithuanian poetry: the horizons of sacredness and ethics

The horizon of the Western Christian poetry

The saints and their space in the Lithuanian poetry of the XXIst century

Face and transcendence in the contemporary Lithuanian poetry: the horizon of theological and philosophical ethics

3. Asta Gustaitienė. Contemporary Christian Lithuanian literature for children

Contemporary Christian literature for children: the theoretical sight

The field of religious literature for children

Christian aspects in the works by Vytautas V. Landsbergis and Rebeka

Una

A word about God in the literary wills for children and grown-ups

4. Marijus Šidlauskas. The absence of contemporary Christian Lithuanian drama

The concept of Christian drama

Contemporary Christian drama: to be without being

III. Ironic complication of the Christian ideas

1. Dalia Jakaitė. „Some god in a rotten wall“: canceled liturgical time in contemporary Lithuanian poetry

2. Asta Gustaitienė. The revolt of teenager (writer) against God and His order

Problematical psychological literature and Christianity

Resisting authority. The demonical images of God

The dangers of self-destruction

3. Marijus Šidlauskas. Transformations of the idea of the absurd in a dead God's world

4. Marijus Šidlauskas. The theological problems in Gintaras Grajauskas' drama

5. Marijus Šidlauskas. The ironic masks of sacrum and profanum: Sigitas Parulskis'

case

6. Dalia Čiočytė. The polemic with the metaphysical addressee in contemporary

Lithuanian essay

7. Dalia Čiočytė. The concept of the demonic in Herkus Kunčius' novella A Most Loyal Metaphysical Friend (2002) and Marius Ivaškevičius' drama The Mistr (2010)

IV. Anonymous Christianity

1. Marijus Šidlauskas. Daiva Čepauskaitė's plays: the creative will that won't hurt a „broken reed“

2. Dalia Čiočytė. The other doesn't mean „nobody“ (Danutė Kalinauskaitė, Skersvėju namai, 2015)

3. Dalia Čiočytė. The narrator by Valdas Papievis: the Christian bracketing of the self (Odilė, 2015)

4. Asta Gustaitienė. Literature for children from the perspectives of axiology and cognitive childishness

The beginning of the transcendental thought

Kęstutis Kasparavičius' tales from the axiological perspective

A child in the Bible and cognitive childishness (Gendrutis Morkūnas)

5. Dalia Jakaitė. The attributes of peaceful (dis)belief: the mythologicly playful
Christian world in poetry

V. Ending the book

VI. Dalia Čiočytė. Christianity and contemporary Lithuanian literature: summary

VII. Index of personal names